Safety of Children Calls for Better Street

It is pleasing to hear that Bethel people are showing an interest in the improvement of Philbrook Street. This street, which leads from Main Street to the primary school, is one of the most important short stretches of highway in town, and one of the most dangerous. True, it is not much worse than it has been for several years, but the increasing traffic which it has come to bear through each school year, seems to have brought it to a point where more than a casual maintenance operation is imperative.

There should be no need to wait longer for a serious or fatal accident before a complete rebuilding job is begun. The crowded procession of school buses and small village primary children, which must use the narrow street every school

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

In order to comply with the "Tax Lien Law" it is necessary to mail a notice to all persons having unpaid Real Estate taxes assessed in 1953.

We will be very glad to cooperate with any who may be able to take care of these balances to save them the additional expense and bother of Tax Liens. Please call 69 if an evening appointment will help you.

The "Jim Uhlman" bridge on the Grover Hill road has recently been rebuilt. With the assistance of the Grafton Lumber Co., we were able to get six "Main Line Rail Road" steel rails to use as stringers in place of wooden stringers. It is hoped that this may last many years.

Tell of Road Improvement Problems At Alder River Grange Meeting

Highway reconstruction scheduled in the Bethel area pin-points the seemingly hopeless problem facing Maine's government in respect to its road-improvement program, members of Alder River Grange, East Bethel, were told Friday evening.

"The 228 miles of Route 28 leading into Bethel will be rebuilt at an estimated $100,000-per-mile capital investment but can only hope to earn back some $50,000-a-mile for its life-expectancy," said E. A. Stover, Portland Cement Association, basing his analysis on a daily traffic flow of 1200 vehicles and the 14-year service-life that bituminous pavements average. He contrasted it with the seven miles of old Route 28 concrete north of South Paris which is approaching 30 years in age and, consequently, paying dividends into the state treasury.

The same problem extends into even lower-type construction on the "secondary" system, said the speaker, citing 1.60 miles of Route

120, at North Woodstock, scheduled for improvement at an estimated $40,000 per mile but capable of earning only some $20,000-a-mile over its anticipated lifetime, with a daily traffic flow of some 500 vehicles.

Stover said there is nothing mysterious about the "earning" or "losing" power of a road. Maine has approximately $30 million a year highway income from 3,282,000 miles of vehicle travel. Thus, every mile travelled on any highway earns 8-10ths of a cent for that particular mile.

"Deduct the excessive maintenance that goes with flexible-type pavements, via repeated patching and periodical surface treatments and you have the answer as to why more than 80 per cent of the better roads in America are built with portland cement - concrete pavements, particularly in that the modern 'air-entraining' concrete offers a minimum 50-year service-life," said Stover.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Hours at the Bethel Library are 2-5 on Tuesdays and Thursdays and 2-8 on Saturdays.

Mrs. Earl Davis, assistant librarian, announces the following plans for her story hour at the library.

On Saturday mornings from nine to ten o'clock she will entertain children of 6 and 7, or those entering first and second grades.

Miss Gwen Stearns is preparing pictures to illustrate the stories Mrs. Davis will tell. If this hour proves popular, plans are to make it a regular vacation feature.

New books received are as follows:

Fiction: Rendezvous, Rose Franken; The Case of the Restless Redhead, Eric Stanley Gardner; Mary Anne, Daphne du Maurier; The Song of Ruth, Frank Slaughter; The Coriell Affair, Mary Deary; Best Stories of O. Henry; The Bright Sands, Robert Lewis Taylor; The Greek Passion, Nikos Kazantzakis; Letter from Annette, Jean Bowman; Nina, Warren Howard; Not As a Stranger, Morton Thompson.

Non-Fiction: Forty Plus and Forty Free, Emily Kimbrough; Seven Years in Tibet, Heinrich Harrar; Glass of Fashion, Cecil Beaton; Eight Weeks to Live, Jean and June Robbins; Mine the Harvest, Edna St. Vincent Millay; Mr. Lincoln's Army, Bruce Catton; Of Whales and Men, R. B. Robertson; The Chip on Grandma's Shoulder, Robert Keith Leavitt; The Child from Five to Ten, D. Gesell; The Taft Story, William S. White; An Introduction to Trees, John Kieran.

Juvenile: Pumpkin, Ginger and Spice, Margaret Otto; Elephant Herd, Miriam Schlein; The Loud and Noisy in the World, Benjamin Elkin; Merry-go-round Family, Mimi Bolton; Mystery of the Black Diamonds, Phyllis Whitney; Bonnie, Island Girl, Genevieve Fox.

80 MILES OF HIGHWAY NOW

BUILDING IN 34 PROJECTS
The current Maine highway construction program is being carried out in a highly commendable manner, according to James M. Acheson, president of the Maine Publicity Bureau.

Acheson, in a letter to State Highway Commission chairman David H. Stevens, complimented Stevens in his recent instructions to all highway personnel to co-operate in doing everything possible to keep traffic moving over all construction at a minimum of inconvenience to the motorist this summer.

Copies of Stevens' instructions have been sent, along with a letter from Guy P. Butler, executive manager of the Bureau, to over 200 travel agencies and automobile clubs throughout the east in an attempt to present a true picture of Maine's highway building program.

Butler points out that "with over 22,000 miles of highway in the State of Maine, less than 80 miles are under construction at the present time and this is divided up among 34 different jobs. Only eight of these 34 projects are over three miles in length and none are more than seven miles." These out-of-state travel organizations are asked to help "refute all unfounded rumors regarding construction on Maine highways" and are advised that "in a short time Maine will have a highway system second to none."

"This good public relations move by the highway department and Butler's follow-up letter should go a long way toward dispelling many of the misconceptions regarding highway construction by those planning Maine vacations this year," Acheson stated.

Call unto Me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not.—(Jeremiah 33:3.)

No matter how worldly successful a man may be, no matter what important tasks he performs or what high office he holds, it is as nothing compared with the great and mighty things that the humblest human among us may know and do, if he calls upon God, and God is with him wholly.

Volunteer leaders in agriculture, homemaking, and 4-H club work carry much of the information to the people of Maine from the Extension Service. These rural leaders play a vital role in Extension work.

FINAL ADVICE

Chapter 13

When I broke into professional ball, most of the catchers, especially those in the major leagues and in the minor leagues, were big, husky fellows. My small size was considered a handicap. But it actually wasn't. I can say in all fairness, after looking back at my years with the White Sox, during most of which I served as first-string catcher. So if catching is the position you have picked out, height and weight will be no barrier. It is more important to have the urge to show you have a good head on your shoulders, to take the manager's orders and lay off the catcher. I feel pretty good back to back to do that. Most of them, who were just about my size. It is the ability, not the build, that will help you.

It is true the catcher gets some fingers and thumbs banged up and hands dented in the course of a game. But any other player. That's only natural. What is the best thing to do to catch a ball? Well, I recommend you get into the habit of catching a ball. It is the position that worked for me and brought quick relief from pain that was hard to bear.

Remember, you cannot whip nature. Assume you are

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE

WHEREAS, John M. Brown of Fryeburg, in the County of Oxford (Western Division) and State of Maine, by his mortgage deed dated November 13, 1948 and recorded in Oxford County, Western Division, Registry of Deeds in Book 14, Page 272, conveyed to Malcolm S. Winslow, late of Portland, in the County of Cumberland and State of Maine, the following real estate:

"A certain lot or parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated on the easterly side of Bradley Street in the Village and Town of said Fryeburg, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning on the easterly side of said Street at a stone set in the ground, the same being the south-westerly corner of the former homestead of John W. Harriman, purchased by him from John S. Kerr in the lifetime of the latter, and running North 60° 30' East about two hundred ninety and one-half (290 1/2) feet by said John W. Harriman homestead to a stake set in the ground; thence South 29° 30' East about seventy-five (75) feet to a stone set in the ground on line of land now or formerly of Edward E. Hastings; thence South 60° 30' West first by said Hastings land and then by the homestead now or formerly of Herbert A. D. Hurd about two hundred ninety-one and one-half (291 1/2) feet to a stone set in the ground on the easterly side of said Street; thence by said Street about seventy-five and one-half (75 1/2) feet to the point of beginning;" and

WHEREAS, the condition of said mortgage has been broken, NOW THEREFORE, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, I, Warren E. Winslow, in my capacity of Executor of the last Will and Testament of said Malcolm S. Winslow, claim a foreclosure thereof.

Dated at Portland, Maine, this twenty-eighth day of June, A. D. 1954.

THE SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFICIARIES IN COUNTY

Retired workers and their wives in Oxford County were getting about 75% of a total of roughly $108,000 in old-age and survivors insurance payments being made monthly in the county at the end of last year. John M. Beale, manager of the Lewiston social security office reported today.

Beneficiaries of all groups on the rolls in December totaled 2703 in Oxford County, he said. This is an increase of 4% over the number of beneficiaries in this county in the same month of 1953. In making this announcement, Beale released newly available figures showing the number of persons in the several beneficiary groups in the county and the total in benefits being paid. In December 1953 retired workers received a total of $74,600; 436 aged wives and dependent husbands got $10,361; a total of $112,125 went to 377 children, including a few children of retired aged workers; 34 mothers with minor children in their care were receiving a total of $3254 monthly; and a small number of dependent aged parents made up the rest of survivors beneficiaries. The total in monthly benefit amounts paid in Oxford County increased approximately $20,000 in the 12-month period. Retired insured workers continued to be the largest group of beneficiaries. These are persons age 65 or over who qualified for monthly payments through employment or self-employment covered by the social security law.

Children of deceased insured workers made up the greatest number of survivors insurance beneficiaries. Beale said. Benefit payments to children (including a few children of aged retired workers) increased by 5% in the 12 month period ending with December 1953. The second largest group of survivor beneficiaries was made up of widows of deceased workers with minor children also entitled to benefit payments to their care. In such cases, the age of the widow is not a consideration in eligibility for survivors payments. Benefit payments to this group remained

DEGREES AWARDED TO SIX AT U. OF M.'S COMMENCEMENT

The University of Maine awarded the bachelor's degree to 480 seniors and the master's degree to 39 graduate students at its 101st commencement exercises on Sunday, June 20.

Candidates for the degrees were presented by the deans of the various colleges. Dr. Arthur A. Hauck, president of the University, officially conferred the degrees.

Honorary degrees were also awarded to seven distinguished leaders in various fields.

Governor Burton M. Cross extended greetings to the students, faculty, relatives, and guests during the exercises.

The commencement speaker was Lester B. Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs of Canada, and the Baccalaureate speaker was Dr. Charles F. Phillips, president of Bates College.

Those from the Bethel area receiving degrees were as follows: Rodney B. Harrington, Bethel, Bachelor of Science in animal husbandry; Howard N. Waterhouse, Bethel, Bachelor of Science in animal husbandry; Lois V. Tenney, Bethel, Bachelor of Arts in music; David C. O'Meara, Hanover, Master of Science in wildlife conservation, (title of thesis: Blood Parasites in Maine Waterfowl, Especially Leucocytozoon spp.).

MAINE CUTS LOSSES FROM FOREST FIRES

Maine slashed its forest fire losses almost in half in 1953, according to American Forest Products Industries, national sponsor of the Keep Green fire prevention program and the American Tree Farm System.

In a report based on figures just released by the government, AFPI said 683 fires scorched 14,538 acres as compared to the 1952 record of 954 fires and 24,007 burned-over acres. Careless smokers and debris burners were blamed for more than half the blazes, the report showed.

The record for some of the other states included: Massachusetts, 6,974 acres; New Hampshire, 5,468; Vermont, 519; New York, 15,785; and Florida, 4,327,748 acres.

"I think the forest industries, government agencies and woodlot owners are doing a fine job in their efforts to keep Maine green," said D. B. Demeritt, Bangor, chairman of the Maine Forest Industries Committee. "But the figures show we must all keep busy with this job because forest fires hurt the economy of the entire state."

about the same as the level of a year previous. Beale said this reflected end of benefit rights for widows as their families grew up which offset the amounts going to any widows qualified during 1953.

These local figures for old-age insurance payments also reflect a national trend, Beale pointed out. In the country as a whole, more than 8 million persons were receiving such benefit payments at the end of 1953, almost a million more than in December 1952.

"While these statistics may seem to be just so many figures in cold print," Beale said, "the payment monthly of $108,000 to some 2700 persons in this county is of real significance to the economic well-being of the community at large, and in many cases represents the greatest or only source of income to the individual family concerned."

GAS TAX REMINDERS ON 31st ANNIVERSARY OF TAX

Starting next week, coincident with the 31st anniversary of Maine's gasoline tax, gasoline pumps throughout the state will display small permanent signs telling the total gasoline tax paid by motorists on each gallon they buy, Earl Spencer of Cape Elizabeth, chairman of the Maine Petroleum Industries Committee has announced.

The message on the signs will read "Price Includes 8c Tax on Each Gallon."

Imposed on July 7, 1923, the state gasoline tax produced $522,000 in its first full year, he said, whereas it now brings in about $15,917,000, or more than thirty times as much.

Mr. Spencer pointed out that when Maine first levied this tax it was one cent a gallon and there was no federal tax. Today, he added, the state tax amounts to six cents a gallon and the additional federal levy, first imposed in 1932, brings the total tax up to eight cents.

He explained that oil men approved the principle of a reasonable state tax on gasoline as a fair means of paying a just share of road costs. However, they believe that the right to tax gasoline should be reserved exclusively to the states, and that the federal
